

Molly Blog Entry for 2/12/14-

We had a really fun, long day today. Andy Morgan who is a PA specializing in dermatology gave talks on poison ivy and topical sun protection. I'll be honest, I wasn't super stoked when I heard these were our topics this morning, but Andy did a really awesome job with them. He's super knowledgeable and a very cool guy. After Andy, Dr. Sarah Sterner who's a pediatric EM doc, went over OB/GYN issues and recommendations. Sarah shared her case of AMS during her second trimester with her second child (her kids are absolutely adorable). Then Kirk taught us how to make Svetlana into a burrito! Directions:

Step 1: Lindsey and Sarah put Svetlana in a trash bag

Step 2: Wrap Svetlana into burrito form

Step 3: Add eye protection

Step 4: Kirk smiles while completing our Svetlana burrito

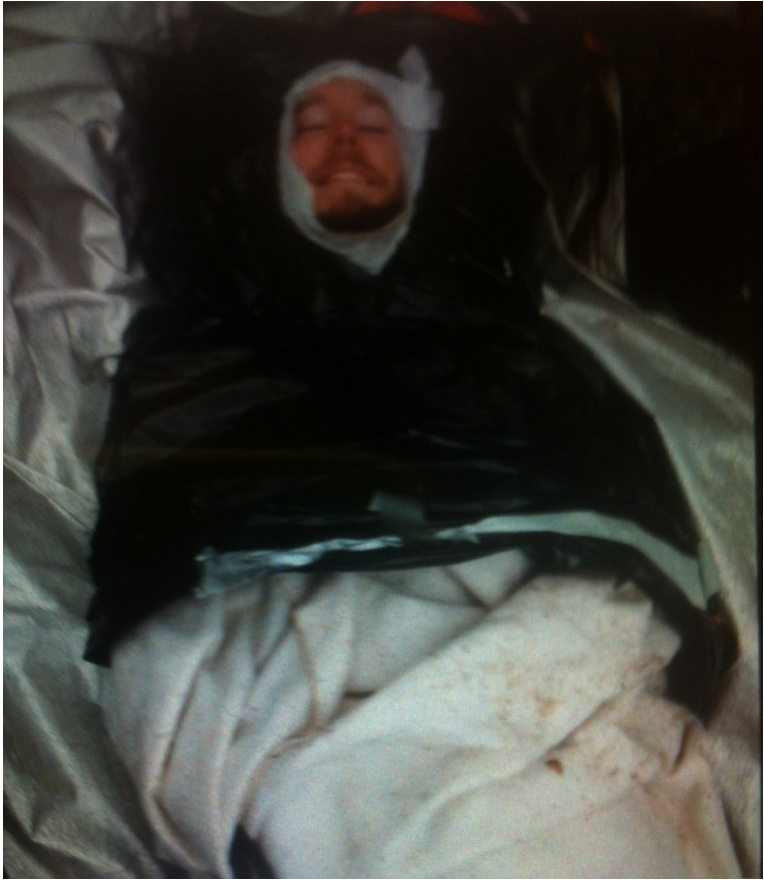

Step 5: Free Svetlana

Step 6: practice our newly learned technique on Preston during our outdoor scenario

After scenarios we headed back to our lodge and practiced our knot skills

And some ladies who will remain nameless were caught red-handed in my bag of snacks...
